Summary project

Foça TelePati is a digital platform developed to improve the welfare of street animals and enhance the connection between citizens, shelters, and local authorities. It allows users to adopt animals, report issues, contribute donations, and participate in rescue efforts. The app aims to make animalrelated communication and action easier, more transparent, and more effective.

Goal project

To ensure the safety and well-being of street animals while promoting responsible citizenship and easing the burden on shelters and volunteers. The project seeks to raise awareness, foster collaboration, and provide a structured way for the public to engage in animal welfare.

Result project

Improved public engagement in animal care, faster resolution of animal-related issues, increased adoptions, reduced complaints about stray animals, and stronger collaboration between the municipality, shelters, and citizens. The project also enhances public awareness and encourages a more compassionate urban culture.
